some pronounce it with I also when it is conjoined with a following word; saying, أَنَا فَعَلْتُ; [as we generally find it written in books;] but this is of a bad dialect: (TA:) [this last assertion, however, requires consideration; for the dial, here said to be bad is that of Temeem, accord. to what here follows:] the Basrees hold that the pronoun consists of the , and the , and that the [final] I is redundant, because it is suppressed in a case of conjunction with a following word; but the Koofees hold that the pronoun is composed of all the three letters, because the I is preserved in a case of conjunction with a following word in the dial. of Temeem. (Marginal note in a copy of the Mughnee.) [Accord. to Az,] it is best to say ♦ Ul in a case of pause; and ♦ in a case of أَنْ فَعَلْتُ conjunction with a following word, as in ذَاكُ [I did that]; but some of the Arabs say, quiescent ن quiescent ; أَنَا * فَعَلْتُ زَاكَ in a case of this kind, though this is rare, saying, [I said that]; and Kudá'ah prolong the former I, saying, آن ا قلته. (T.) [Accord. to J.] Vil is a pronoun denoting the speaker alone, and is made to end invariably with fet-h to distinguish it from the particle it which renders the aor. mansoob; the final I being for the purpose of showing what is the vowel in a case of pause; but when it occurs in the middle [or beginning] of a sentence, it is dropped, except in a bad dialect. (S.) [Accord. to ISd,] is a noun denoting the speaker; and in a case of pause, you add I at the end, [saying * ti,] to denote quiescence; (M;) [or] it is better to do this, though it is not always done: (TA:) but it is said, on the authority of Ktr, that there are five dial. vars. of this word; namely, أَنَ † and أَنَ † and أَنَ أَ and أَنَ أَ فَعَلْتُ , and and vii, all mentioned by IJ; but there is some weakness in this : IJ says that the . in this may be a substitute for the I in UI, because the latter is the more usual, and the former is rare: or it may be added to show what is the vowel, and be like the o in ڪتابهه and (M.) For the dual, as well as the pl., only نُحْنُ is used. (Az, TA.) _ It is also a pronoun denoting the person addressed, or spoken to, by assuming the form til [Thou, masc.]; being added to it as the sign of the person addressed, (S, M, Mughnee, K,) and being the pronoun, (M, Mughnee, K,) accord. to the general opinion; (Mughnee, K;) the two becoming as one; not that one is prefixed to the other as governing it in the gen. case: (S:) and so أنت , (Ş, M, Mughnee, K,) addressed to the female : (S, M :) and أُنْتُهَا , (M, Mughnee, K,) addressed to two; not a regular dual, for were it so it would be أَنْتَانِ but like فَمَ in فَرَبُّتُكُمَا (M:) and اَنْتُنْ * and أَنْتُنْ, (Ş, Mughnee, K,) which are [respectively] the masc. and fem. pls. (TA.) __ To each of these the so of comparison is sometimes prefixed; so that you say, النَّتُ خَانًا ؟ [Thou art like me, or as I], and * it for أَنْ خَالْتُ I am like thee, or as thou]; as is related on the authority of the Arabs; for though

أَنْتَ كي but not أَنْتَ كَزَيْد ,pronoun, and you say yet the separate pronoun is regarded by them as being in the same predicament as the noun; and therefore the prefixing it to the latter kind of pronoun is approved. (S.) It is said in the Book of ليس , by IKh, that there is no such phrase, in the language of the Arabs, as أنْتَ كي, nor as أَنَا كُكُ, except in two forged verses; wherefore Sb says that the Arabs, by saying أَنْتُ مثلي and and أَنْتُ كَى, have no need of saying and the two verses are these:

• فَلَوْلَا الصِّنَّاءُ لَكُنَّا كُيُمْ • وَلَوْلَا البِّلَاَّةِ لَكَانُوا كُنَا • [And but for the sense of shame, we had been like them, or as they: and but for trial, or affliction they had been like us, or as we]: and

> إِنْ تَكُنُّ كَي فَإِنَّنِي كُكَ فِيهَا إِنَّنَا فِي الهَلَامِ مُصْطَحبَان

[If thou art like me, or as I, verily I am like thee, or as thou, in respect of her, or it, or them: verily we, in respect of blame, are companions]. (TA.) Az mentions his having heard some of the Benoo-Suleym say, ڪُهَا أُنْتَنِي, [the latter word being a compound of the pronoun it, regularly written separately, and the affixed pronoun ,i,] meaning Wait thou for me in thy place. (TA.) It is also a particle: and as such, it is-First, a particle of the kind called مُصُدري, rendering the aor. mansoob: (Mughnee, K:) i. e., (TA,) it combines with a verb [in this case] in the future [or aor.] tense, following it, to form an equivalent to an inf. n., and renders it mansooh: (S, TA:) you say, أُرِيدُ أَنْ تَقُومُ [I desire that thou stand. or that thou wouldst stand, or that thou mayest stand]; meaning أُرِيدُ قَيَامَكُ [I desire thy standing]. (S.) It occurs in two places: first, in that of the inchoative, or in the beginning of a phrase, so that it is in the place of a nom. case; as in the وَأَنْ تَصُومُوا خَيْرٌ كُمْرٍ اللهِ (180], saying [in the Kur ii. 180] [And that ye fast is better for you]; (Mughnee, K;) i. e. صَامُكُم [your fasting]. (TA.) And, secondly, after a word denoting a meaning which is not that of certainty: and thus it is in the place of a nom. case; as in the saying [in the Kur أَنْدُ يَأْنِ لِلَّذِينَ آمَنُوا أَنْ تَخْشُعَ قُلُوبُهُمْ [Hath not the time that their hearts should become submissive, i. e. the time of their hearts' becoming submissive, yet come unto those who have believed?]: and in the place of an accus. case; as in the saying [in the Kur x. 38], أَمَا كَانَ هَذَا [And this Kur-án is not such that it might be forged; i. e., افتراء ; so in Bd and Jel; and so in a marginal note to a copy of the Mughnee, where is added, meaning of forged]: and in the place of a gen. case; as in منْ قَبْلِ أَنْ يَأْتِي ,[10] the saying [in the Kur lxiii. 10 Before that death come unto any أَحَدُكُمْ ٱلْمَوْتُ one of you; i.e. before death's coming unto any one of you]. (Mughnee, K.) Sometimes it makes the aor. to be of the mejzoom form, (Mughnee, K,) as some of the Koofees and AO have men-

certain of the Benoo-Sabbah of Dabbeh; (Mughnee;) as in this verse:

[When we went away in the morning, the youths of our family, or people, said, Come ye, until that the chase come to us, (i. e. until the coming of the chase to us,) let us collect firewood]. (Mughnee, K.) And sometimes it is followed by an aor. of the marfoos form; as in the saying [in the Kur ii. 233], accord. to the reading of Ibn-Moheysin, For him who desireth لَمَنْ أَرَادَ أَنْ يُتُمُّّ الرَّضَاعَة that he may complete the time of suching; i.e. the completing thereof]; (Mughnec, K;) but this is anomalous, (I 'Ak p. 101, and TA,) or is here a contraction of أَنَّهُ [for الله (I'Ak:) and in the saying of the poet,

[That ye two convey, or communicate, to Asma. (mercy on you! or woe to you!) from me, salutation, and that ye inform not any one]; but the Koofees assert that is here [in the beginning of the verse] a contraction of i, and anomalously conjoined with the verb; whereas the Başrees correctly say that it is in which renders the aor. mansoob, but is deprived of government by its being made to accord with its co-ordinate Lo. termed مُصَدِرِيّة; (Mughnee;) or, as IJ says, on the authority of Aboo-'Alee, is here used by poetic licence for اَتُكُما; and the opinion of the Baghdádees [and Basrees], that it is likened to le, and therefore without government, is improbable, because is not conjoined with a verb in the present tense, but only with the preterite and the future. (M.) When it is suppressed, the aor. may be either mansoob or marfooa; but the latter is the better; as in the saying in the Kur [xxxix. 64], أَفَغُيرُ ٱللهِ تَأْمُرُونِّي أُعْبُدُ [Other than God do ye bid me worship?]. (S.) If it occurs immediately before a preterite, it combines with it to form an equivalent to an inf. n. relating to past time; being in this case without government: you say, أَنْ قُبْتَ [It pleased me that thou stoodest]; meaning thy standing that is past pleased me: (S:) and thus it is used in the saying [in the Kur xxviii. 82], لَوُلَا أَنُّ مَنَّ ٱللهُ عَلَيْنَا Were it not for that God conferred favour upon us; i. e., for God's having conferred favour upon us]. (Mughnee.) It is also conjoined with an imperative; as in the phrase mentioned by Sb, I wrote to him, Stand; i. e. كَتَبْتُ إِلَيْه بِأَنْ قُمْ I wrote to him the command to stand]; which shows that AHei is wrong in asserting that whenever it is conjoined with an imperative it is an explicative [in the sense of i], and that in this particular instance the - may be redundant, which it cannot here be, because, whether redundant or not, it is not put immediately before anything but a noun or what may be rendered by the sof comparison is not prefixed to the [affixed] tioned, and as Lh has stated on the authority of a noun. (Mughnee.) _ Secondly, it is a con-
