thou whether thou be able to stand or unable to do so; and in the saying, أَكُرُمْ زَيْدًا وَإِنْ قَعَدُ i. e. [Treat thou Zeyd with honour] though he be sitting; or, whether he sit or not. (Msb.) [Let as a compound of the conditional in and the redundant to, see in an art. of which tol is the heading.] - [Secondly,] it is a negative, (S, Mughnee, K,) syn. with 6; (S;) and is put before a nominal proposition; (Mughnee, K;) as in the saying [in the Kur lxvii. 20], إِن ٱلْكَافِرُونَ [The unbelievers are not in aught save in a deception]; (S, Mughnee, K;) and before a verbal proposition; as in [the Kur ix. 108,] We desired not, or meant إِنْ أَرْدُنَا إِلَّا ٱلْحُسْنَى not, aught save that which is best]. (Mughnee, K.) The assertion of some, that the negative does not occur except where it is followed by I, as in the instances cited above, or by , with teshdeed, which is syn. therewith, as, accord. to a reading of some of the Seven [Readers], in the saying [in the Kur lxxxvi. 4], إِنْ كُلُّ نَفْسِ لَيًّا There] مَا كُلُّ نَفْسِ إِلَّا عَلَيْهَا حَافظُ is not any soul but over it is a guardian], is refuted by the sayings in the Kur [x. 69 and lxxii. 26], إِنْ عِنْدَكُمْ مِنْ سُلْطَانِ بِهِذَا [meaning, accord. to the Jel., Ye have no proof of this that ye say], and إِنْ أُدْرِي أُقَرِيبٌ مَا تُوعَدُونَ [I know not whether that with which ye are threatened be nigh]. (Mughnee, K.*) The conditional and the negative both occur in the saying in the Kur وَلَتُنْ زَالَتَا إِنْ أُمْسَكُهُمَا مِنْ أُحَدِ مِنْ بَعْدِهِ ([xxxv. 30] [And I swear that, if they should quit their place, not any one should withhold them after Him] the former is conditional; and the latter is negative, and is [part of] the complement of the oath which is denoted by the J prefixed to the former; the complement of the condition being necessarily suppressed. (Mughnec.) When it is put before a nominal proposition, it has no government, accord. to Sb and Fr; but Ks and Mbr allow its governing in the manner of لَيْسَ ; and Sa'eed إِن ٱلَّذِينَ [Jbn-Jubeyr reads, [in the Kur vii. 193,] Those whom ye] تَدْعُونَ مِنْ دُونِ ٱللهِ عِبَادًا أَمْثَالَكُمْ invoke beside God, or others than God, are not men like you]: also, the people of El-'Aliyeh have been heard to say, إِنْ أَحَدُ خَيْرًا مِنْ أَحَد إِلَّا إِلَّهُ [Any one is not better than any other one, except by means of health, or soundness]; and That is not profitable to إِنْ ذِلْكَ نَافِعُكَ وَلَا ضَارَّكَ thee nor injurious to thee]: as an ex. of its occurrence without government, which is mostly the case, the saying of some, إِنَّ * قَائِمْ, may be explained as originally إِنْ أَنَا قَائِيْر [I am not standing]; the i of Ui being elided for no reason in itself, and the jo of being incorporated into the of this latter being elided in its conjunction with the following word; but has also been heard. (Mughnee.) Sometimes it occurs [as a negative] in the complement of an oath: you say, وَٱللَّهُ إِنْ فَعَلْتُ, meaning [By God, I did not]. (8.) _ [Thirdly,] it is a contraction of i, and is put before a nominal and before a verbal proposition. (Mughnee, K.) In the former case, it is made to govern and is made to have no government: (S,* K:) [i. e.] in this case, it is allowable to make it govern; contr. to the opinion of the Koofees: (Mughnee:) Lth says that he who uses the contracted form of it uses the nom. case with it, except that some of the people of El-Hijáz use the accus. case with it: (T:) thus it is said, accord. إِنْ كُلَّا لَمَا [in the Kur xi. 113,] إِنْ كُلَّا لَمَا [Verily all of them, thy Lord will indeed fully render them the recompense of their works]: (T, Mughnee:) Fr says, We have not heard the Arabs use the contracted form and make it to govern, unless with a pronoun, in which case the desinential syntax is not apparent; and he adds that in the instance cited above, they make it to be governed in the accus. case by يوقينهم; as though the phrase were ليوقينهم would be proper; for you كُلُّ and that كُلُّ say, إِنْ زَيْدٌ لَقَائِمِ [Verily Zeyd is standing]: (T:) the ex. given by Sb is, إِنْ عَمْرًا لَهُنْطَلُقُ [Verily 'Amr is going away]. (Mughnee.) But it is [most] frequently made to have no government; as in the saying [in the Kur xliii. 34 accord. to one reading], وَإِنْ كُلُّ ذَٰلِكَ لَهَا مَتَاعُ [And verily all that is the furniture] الْعَيَاة الدُّنْيَا of the present life]; and, accord to the reading of Hafs, [and of 'Asim and Kh, in the Kur xx. 66, إِنْ هَذَانِ لَسَاحِرَانِ [, إِنَّ see إِنْ هَذَانِ لَسَاحِرَانِ [, إِنَّ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللَّهُ اللّ [Verily these two are enchanters]; &c. (Mughnee.) When it is put before a verbal proposition, it is necessarily made to have no government: (Mughnee, K:) and in most cases the verb is a which] ناسخ preterite and of the kind called effects a change of the grammatical form or of the meaning in a nominal proposition before which it is placed]; as in the saying [in the Kur ii. 138], And verily it was a great وَإِنْ كَانَتْ لَكَبِيرَةً matter]; and [in the Kur xvii. 75,] وَإِنْ كَادُوا [And verily they were near to seducing] لَيَغْتَنُونَكُ thee]; (Mughnee;) in which last ex. AZ says, it means لَقَد, i. e. without doubt; and so in the same ch. vv. 78 and 108: (T:) less frequently it is an aor. of a verb of this kind; as in the saying وَإِنْ نَظُنُّكَ لَمِنَ ٱلْكَاذِبِينَ ,[in the Kur xxvi. 186] [And verily we think thee to be of the number of the liars]: and both these kinds of expression may be taken as exs. to be imitated: less frequently than this it is a preterite of a verb not of the kind termed ناسخ; as in the saying [of a poet],

شَلَّتُ يَمِينُكَ إِنَّ قَتَلْتَ لَمُسْلِمًا thee, and it is that which deforms thee]; and this, by common consent, may not be taken as an ex. to be imitated. (Mughnee.) Wherever you find with J after it, decide that it is originally إن (Mughnee, K;) as in the exs. above: but respecting this J there is a difference of opinion: see this letter. (Mughnee.) J says, (TA,) is sometimes a contraction of i, and this must have J put before its predicate, to compensate for what is elided, of the doubled letter; as in the saying in the Kur [lxxxvi. 4, accord. to him who reads 4 instead of إِنْ كُلُّ نَفْسِ لَهَا عَلَيْهَا حَافِظُ , [لَّهَا الْعَالَى الْعَالَى الْعَالَى الْعَالَى الْعَالِيَةِ الْعَالَى الْعَلَى الْعَلِي الْعَلَى الْعَلِي الْعَلَى الْعِلَى الْعَلَى الْعَلَى الْعَلَى الْعَلَى الْعَلَى الْعَلَى الْعَلِيمِ الْعَلَى الْعَلَى الْعَلَى الْعَلَى الْعَلَى الْعَلَى الْعِلَى الْعَلَى الْعَلِي الْعَلَى الْعَلَى الْعَلَى الْعَلَى الْعَلَى الْعَلَى الْعَلَ every soul hath over it a guardian]; and in the saying, إِنْ زَيْدٌ لَأَخُوكَ [Verily Zeyd is thy brother]; in order that it may not be confounded with it which is syn. with the negative &: (S, TA:) but IB says, J is here introduced to distinguish between negation and affirmation, and this jhas neither subject nor predicate; so J's saying that the J is put before its predicate is without meaning: and this J is sometimes introduced with the objective complement of a verb; as in إِنْ ضَرِبَتُ [Verily I struck, or beat, Zeyd]; and with the agent; as in إِنْ قَامَ لَزَيْدُ [Verily Zeyd stood]. (TA.) When the contracted il governs, this J is not necessary; so you may say, إِنْ زَيْدًا قَائِمْ [Verily Zeyd is standing]; because in this case it cannot be confounded with the negative; for the negative does not render the subject mansoob and the predicate marfooa: and when it does not govern, if the meaning is apparent, the J is not needed; as in

[And we are persons who refuse to submit to injury, of the family of Málik: and verily the family of Málik are generous in respect of their origins]; كَانَتْ being here for كَانَتْ. (I'Ak p. 99.) __ [Fourthly,] it is redundant, (Ṣ, Mughnee, Ḳ,) occurring with له; as in the saying, مَا إِنْ يَقُومُ زَيْدُ [Zeyd does not stand]; (Ṣ;) and in the saying [of a poet],

[Thou didst not a thing which thou dislikest]. (Mughnee, K: in the CK الْقَيْتُ.) It is mostly thus used after the negative to, when put before a verbal proposition; as above; or before a nominal proposition; as in the saying,

[And our habit is not cowardice; but our destinies and the good fortune of others caused our being defeated]: and in this case it prevents the government of L, as in this verse: but in the saying,

[Sons of Ghudáneh, ye are not indeed gold, nor silver, or pure silver, but ye are pottery], accord. to him who relates it thus, saying مريفًا and فرهبًا, in the accus. case, it is explained as a negative, corroborative of to: (Mughnee:) and accord. to J,
